Paint-a-Drain Campaign

The CDSN partnered with the City of Henderson to implement the "Paint a Drain Campaign". During a volunteer stenciling event in November 1997, approximately 20 volunteers stenciled the message "Don't Pollute! Drains to Lake Mead" on 90 storm drains in Henderson.

Volunteers distributed brochures to residents to further teach them about proper disposal practices. The CDSN also recruited over 100 volunteers through an on-going volunteer stenciling program, in which an additional 212 storm drains were stenciled. The project was funded through a Nevada Division of Environmental Protection 319 Clean Water Act grant.

The National Park Service and the Bureau of Reclamation donated graphic and print services for 10,000 book covers, which were distributed to elementary students in Henderson
